

Deutsches Analyse Netzwerk AG celebrates second birthday - growth course to be accelerated

Goettingen, 9 December 2024 – Goettingen-based Deutsches Analyse Netzwerk AG ('DAN/AG' for short) celebrated its two-year anniversary yesterday. Following the successful completion of the start-up phase in mid-2024, the company has now embarked on a clear growth trajectory. The latest personnel decisions illustrate this development: the research team has been strengthened by capital market experts Bernd Krampen, Jörg Kuypers and Udo Schacht, who are contributing their many years of expertise and thus driving the steady growth of the service offering.

As part of this growth strategy, DAN/AG is continuously expanding its product portfolio. Among other things, new study formats and research services are planned that focus on specific markets and new asset classes such as cryptocurrencies. There are also plans to establish coverage of small and mid-cap companies. This is intended to align the company's portfolio with the increasing demand for specialised analyses.

There has also been a change on the Supervisory Board: Sabine Lidl, Head of Group Compliance at Bayerische Landesbank in Munich, has been appointed as a new member of the Board. As planned, Sabine Lidl succeeds Karsten Rahlf, who as co-founder initially took on the role of Supervisory Board member and thus made a significant contribution to the development of the company during the decisive start-up phase. The appointment of Sabine Lidl now completes the comprehensive skills profile of the Supervisory Board, which was already aimed for when the company was founded, and which can be viewed in detail in the skills matrix published on the DAN/AG website.

Volker Sack, CEO of DAN/AG, is very satisfied with the development to date: 'We have set the course for further growth - both in terms of personnel and strategy. We have already acquired our first key customers with tailored research solutions. With our clear focus on high-quality research, we will continue to create real added value for our customers in the coming years and consistently pursue our growth.'
